LEGAL & COMPLIANCE

Privacy Policy

This notice explains the personal information collected through the website, introduction form and client portal, how it is used, and how an individual may raise a question or request access or correction.

Information collected

An introduction request includes a Telegram username and selected approximate investment-volume range, plus any name or email address voluntarily supplied. Registration collects a name, email address and password; the password is stored as a salted hash rather than readable text. The portal stores account status and any reporting records entered by authorised administrators.

Technical records may include session identifiers, IP addresses, request times and security events needed to operate and protect the service. A secure, HttpOnly session cookie keeps a signed-in account active for a limited period.

Purposes and access

Information is used to review introduction requests, contact the person through the chosen channel, provide account access, maintain reporting records, troubleshoot problems and protect the service from abuse. Access to submitted requests and client records is restricted by account role to authorised administrators. Information is not used to make a promise of eligibility or investment return.

Service providers and communication channels

Hosting and other technical providers may process data as needed to operate the website under their own infrastructure arrangements. If a person elects to communicate through Telegram, those messages are also subject to Telegram's service and privacy terms. Do not send identity documents, payment credentials or sensitive financial instructions through an unverified public account.

Retention and security

Information should be retained only while needed for the stated purpose or a legal obligation, then deleted or anonymised where appropriate. Access controls, encrypted transport and operational backups are used to reduce unauthorised access and loss. No internet service can guarantee absolute security.

Individual requests

A person may ask what information is held about them, request correction of inaccurate data, or request deletion where applicable. Requests can be made through the website's published support contact. Identity may need to be verified before account information is disclosed or changed. Some records may need to be retained to meet legal duties.

Changes

This notice may be updated when the processing, service providers or legal requirements change. Material changes should be made available through the website before they take effect where required.